Training

Training for having safe and effective wellbeing conversations

This programme, co-designed with a number of NHS organisations and to be delivered by trained facilitators from Passe Partout, will support delegates to understand what a wellbeing conversation is, when it may be appropriate to initiate one and provide them with additional knowledge and skills to have safe and compassionate conversations about various aspects of wellbeing.

The programme is initially aimed at line managers (of any profession, banding or grade), peers and colleagues working across the NHS in roles which have caring responsibilities for staff – for example clinical and educational supervisors, team leaders, members of staff networks, health and wellbeing champions or Wellbeing Guardians.

Please visit the NHS England and NHS Improvement events page and search for “How to have safe and effective wellbeing conversations – national training programme” to book a training date in September or October.

Feedback.

“Was able to be hands on with patients and also allowed time to spend time with MDT to see specialised roles and develop my learning. In and out of practice.”

“Future students will learn skills, experience and good values from a placement here.”

“Many opportunities were given to me to enhance my skills and knowledge. These were identified and staff made them possible for me.”

“I wish my placement was longer than 6 weeks.”

“I learnt a lot and everyone I worked with genuinely answered every single question I had and more. Also I felt I had a strong support system if I ever did have a problem and I feel I have improved all my nursing skills after this 4 weeks.”

“Thoroughly enjoyed, welcomed by all and was able to develop skills and knowledge in a caring environment with staff who are willing to teach.”

Preceptorship Programme

New GPNs

We have 24 GPNS booked on the course due to start 21st Sept and complete end of May 2022. We have collected another 10 names on a reserve list and although they can't access the full programme we have offered to fund imms/vaccs/cytology/ motivational interviewing where required along with offer of support from their local PDL. This reserve list offer will close on 31st Aug 2021.

However its probably good practice to continue to collect names of new GPNS across C+M so if you are asked about the preceptorship course please forward new GPN details to the following email address england.cmgpfv@nhs.net.

We hope this will be running twice a year, spring and autumn, but we await funding to be confirmed before setting any more dates.
